Statue of Liberty Unveiled.

Bartholdi's statue to Liberty, presented by him to the United States, was unveiled on Thursday last. The very fine, notwithstanding a drizzling rain. The President received the statue in the name of the United States, with a patriotic speech. He was loudly cheered as were the members of his cabinet, and the French guests particularly the great artist Bartholdi. It is estimated that over a million of people were present at the unveiling. Great enthusiasm prevailed.

HISTORY OF THE STATUE.—THE ARTIST.

On a pretty little island of about thirteen acres extent, situated in New York harbor, is an old fort. In the middle of this is the Bartholdi Statue of Liberty Enlightening the World. This stupendous statue is the largest ever erected, being 305 feet above tide water.

Belle's island, on which it is situated, is one of the most accessible as well as one of the most pleasant breathing spots around New York. The solid granite walls of the old fort, which are in good condition, balance well the height of the statue, and contrast nicely with the beautiful grass and shade-trees with which the island is covered.

This statue, which is now attracting the eyes of the world, is a gift of the French people to America. A party of French gentlemen having made up their minds that it would be a good thing to get up a costly gift, to be paid for by small subscriptions of the masses, engaged August Bartholdi, a young and promising sculptor, to carry out their idea; sent him to America to confer with a committee here as to what the most acceptable form of the good will of France to America would be. On his arrival he was struck with the beauty of New York's harbor, and seeing Belle's island conceived the idea of an immense statue, which should be much larger than anything yet heard of. As Liberty had its birth in this country, it seemed right that the statue should represent "Liberty Enlightening the World." This would be a lasting acknowledgment of France's good will, and at the same time light up the harbor at night and be a great benefit.

After he arrived at home the plan was put into execution, the money raised and work commenced on the statue, the weight of which is 440,000 pounds, of which 176,000 are copper and the remainder wrought iron. The height of the statue is 151 feet and that of the pedestal 150 feet. The cost of making it was $240,000, which does not include making models, &c., but simply the manufacture of the statue. The pedestal, which was built by American subscriptions and an appropriation of Congress for putting up the statue, has cost $250,000.

The pedestal will contain elevators to convey sight-seers up and down, and the lookout on the torch may be reached by stairs through the statue. To give some idea of the size of this enormous undertaking, we state that twelve persons can stand on the torch at one time, from which a magnificent view can be obtained. The width of the eye is 23 inches, and the length of the nose 3 feet 9 inches, and the fore finger is 7 feet 11 inches long.

The statue will be lighted by electric lights in and around it. The electric lights in the torch will be so arranged that the flames will not be seen, but a strong reflector placed under the lights will throw powerful rays of light skyward that may be seen far out at sea. Another series of similar lights will be placed in the torch with another reflector that will throw the rays of light in the face of the statue. Electric lights will also be arranged at each of the four corners at the top of the pedestal. The effect of the combination of these lights will be to illuminate the statue at night, so that it will loom up grandly in the surrounding darkness. To protect the statue from lightning 4 rods will be bunched at the top of the torch, which after passing down through the interior of the statue, will be separated and one of the rods will pass down at each corner of the pedestal where openings have been left for them, and so down through the ground until water is reached. It is believed that with these rods the statue is perfectly protected from destruction by lightning. In the course of erection it was struck a number of times without damage, thus proving that there need be no apprehension on this score.

CORRESPONDENCE.

LETTERS FROM OUR FRIENDS.

KERNERSVILLE LETTER.

Messrs. Editors:—I believe I closed my last letter by saying I had an invitation to a Sunday School gathering at Pine Grove, about three miles from Kernersville. I went and was pleased with all I saw and heard. There was good singing by two Sunday Schools: Pine Grove, Mr. R. C. Hunter, Superintendent, and Mr. W. W. Hunter, Musical Director; the other school was Antioch, Mr. Wm. Linville, Superintendent of School and singing. In addition to the service of song, there were a number of speeches by the members of Pine Grove School, but I cannot remember them all, nor could I decide in my mind who spoke the best. Among the young ladies were Miss Mollie Stone, Sallie Stone, Lou Crews, Dora Crews, Anna Dean, Lula Dean, Sallie Carter. Among the gentlemen, R. C. Hunter, W. W. Hunter, H. S. Barrow and T. R. Barrow. Mr. Crawford, from Winston, was there in the forenoon, and made an address. The meeting was moved from the school-house to the new church, not quite finished, a large building—it was filled, and everybody seemed to enjoy the occasion. By special request at I preached at night, had a good turn out and the honor of preaching the first sermon in it. It is under the auspices of the Protestant Methodists.

On Sunday I preached at Mt. Pleasant, five miles above Winston, on the Stokesburg road. I staid over night with Mr. James Wheeler, and next day in company with Thornton Hampton, went to New Philadelphia, where brother Woolsey commenced a protracted meeting on Sunday. I found the preachers as plenty as huckleberries in July, the brethren Hagen, Rondthaler, Woolsey, Weesner, Fishel, Hampton and Uncle Joseph Miller, now 83 years old, were there. It was said of Moses "that his eyes were not dim, nor his natural force abated." I do not know how it is with old brother Miller as regards his eyes, but I can bear witness from what I saw the other day that his "natural force is not abated." I heard him preach 50 years ago, and I heard him the other day, and the same energy and zeal as of old was there. He and Rev. John Alspaugh are the last in that old race of preachers in the Methodist Church, that by their piety and ardor in the Master's cause, laid the foundation for that greatness to which it has attained in this land. His father was a Lutheran preacher, Rev. Jacob Miller; he was a great friend to Sunday Schools and had the best gift to talk to children of any man I have ever known; and when quite old he moved to Indiana. The last time I heard him preach was at a school-house near where Eden Chapel now stands. It was in the woods and there was no clearing along the road from Waukegan to the Stafford place, on the Salisbury road. The late Jacob Schultz was the Superintendent of the Sunday School, and he made a Christmas Entertainment for the children, and asked father Miller to preach the sermon. I remember his opening hymn, it was:

"On Judah's plains as Shepherds sat Watching their flocks by night."

And at the close he told us he was going away and would see us no more in this world, and then went to every child in the house and gave his hand and said farewell, and how we did cry!

Sunday Schools did some good then if they did not have the appliances of the present day, the Superintendents and teachers, if limited in education, were after all converted men and women, and by faith and prayer made up the deficiency, and God accepted their work; and Jacob Schultz, Van N. Zevilly, Philip Blum, Jno. Vogler, and numbers of others have gone to their reward, but their memory is blessed, and their works follow them. We had a good meeting at Philadelphia, a lumber professor faith in Christ and others were seeking when I left. Uncle Moses Hunt dropped in on Tuesday and gave us a good sermon. He must have found a good pasture over at Lewisville, for he is getting corpulent and ruddy in appearance. He has had good success in his work all round on the circuit and feels thankful for it.

They regulate the bowels, assist digestion, and increase the appetite, more surely than any other medicine. —Paul Churchill, Haverhill, Mass.

There are more horse traders in our neighborhood than we ever knew of. There are a great number of boys who are continually trying to get up "swaps." The strangest thing about such trading is that some boys feel convinced that they are making money at it, even if they get to where they have nothing but the bridle left.

We saw a deed, the property of the late Tobias Rothrock. It was made to Peter Rothrock 116 years ago. It is written on parchment, and dated as follows:—"The eighth day of October, the tenth year of the reign of George 3rd." George 3rd fell heir to the crown of England on the 25th day of October 1760, and consequently the date of the deed would be October 8th, 1770. It is written in hand, and it is faded but very little.

The usual amount of church business was transacted, but there was no definite action taken to secure a pastor for the Forsyth county mission. It was recommended that the churches proceed to elect for themselves a pastor.

There was a large congregation present on Sunday, and there were three sermons preached during the day, and one at night.

The Lord's Supper was administered in the house on Sunday.

There was preaching each day and night during the Conference, and on Sunday 16 members were added to the church by confirmation.

On Thursday preceding the Conference, there was a large Sunday School celebration and picnic in which the people generally of the neighborhood participated.

Two or three weeks ago the Dispatch was informed that a tunneling strike would soon be established at the Silver Valley mine in this county, and though it had some misgivings on the subject, published the statement for what it was worth. Dr. Emmons has visited and carefully considered the advantages of several of the mines in the State with a view to establishing smelting works at the most available place, and has finally decided to erect the works at the Silver Valley.—Lexington Dispatch.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by its action on the blood, relieves this condition, and restores the joints to good working order.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has effected, in our many most remarkable cures, in cases which baffled the efforts of the most experienced physicians. Were it necessary, I could give the names of many individuals who have been cured by taking this medicine. In my case it has worked wonders, relieving me of Rheumatism, after being troubled with it for years. In this, and all other diseases arising from impure blood, there is no remedy with which I am acquainted, that affords such relief as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.—R. H. Lawrence, M. D., Baltimore, Md.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me of Gout and Rheumatism, when nothing else would. It has eradicated every trace of disease from my system.—E. H. Short, Manager Hotel Belmont, Lowell, Mass.

I was, during many months, a sufferer from chronic Rheumatism. The disease afflicted me grievously, in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took several bottles of this preparation, and was speedily restored to health.—J. Freeman, Independence, Va.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.
